Rural, Subdivision Taxes Hiked In Illegal (?) Move

Rural Randall County taxpayers will be caught this year in the squeeze of an apparently illegal tax hike voted Monday by County Commissioners.

Commissioners voted Monday to hike rural taxes with a formula used to figure taxes for urban real property. Subdivision real property will likewise be taxed on a formula equal to city taxes.

Rural taxes are expected to increase by $5 to $10 on real property, commissioners were told after Bill Butler introduced his new scheme for figuring taxes.

Apparently, his new scheme is just as illegal as the old scheme, which commissioners shunted aside in their Monday action.

Butler's plan, approved by commissioners calls for what he terms a "re-appraisal of values" on all Randall County property in 1975, but which in his definition amounts to the use of Amarillo city and Canyon school tax valuation records to perform the re-appraisal.

Rural real property is currently taxed on 50 per cent of 100 per cent valuation. Under the Butler plan, rural property will be taxed on 85 per cent of 100 per cent valuation, the percentage used to

Butler's plan, as issued to the commissioners and presented the press:

"It is my opinion that a re-appraisal of values should be made on all Randall County property for taxes and procedure should begin in 1975.

"The heavy cost of this re-appraisal could be avoided by correlating the records of the Canyon Independent School District and the City of Amarillo. The tax assessor could use these records as guidelines. We could assist the Canyon Independent School District with additional information they need in exchange for the information on their records.

"Our costs of fighting fires and road maintenance in the rural areas has increased substantially. I feel that we could set a formula of taking 85 per cent of residential real property on all of Randall County and apply our 17 per cent factor and this would enable us to obtain additional money for the fire and road maintenance costs. It is my estimate that the additional revenue would be between $20,000 and $25,000.

"I feel that his formula should be used for the year 1974 with no change in the commercials until the re-appraisal in 1975."

Under the Butler plan, commercial property will continue to be taxed based on the full 100 per cent valuation of the property.

Several attorney general's opinions and a U.S. Supreme Court ruling speak directly to the kind of tax system used by the county. All indicate the system is unconstitutional because percentages are applied unequally and arbitrarily in taxing property.

In other business Monday, commissioners got in another dispute with the developers of McCormick Estates in the north part of the county.

They told the developers' attorney, Sterling Kinney, that the plat for the subdivision would be given final attention when the

County Hike Could Cause CISD Hike

If Randall County valuations are raised in 1975 through a general re-appraisal of property, taxpayers could be caught in a two-way tax squeeze.

Commissioners voted Monday to begin a re-appraisal of county property with the re-appraisal based on records of valuations in the city of Amarillo and Canyon School District tax offices.

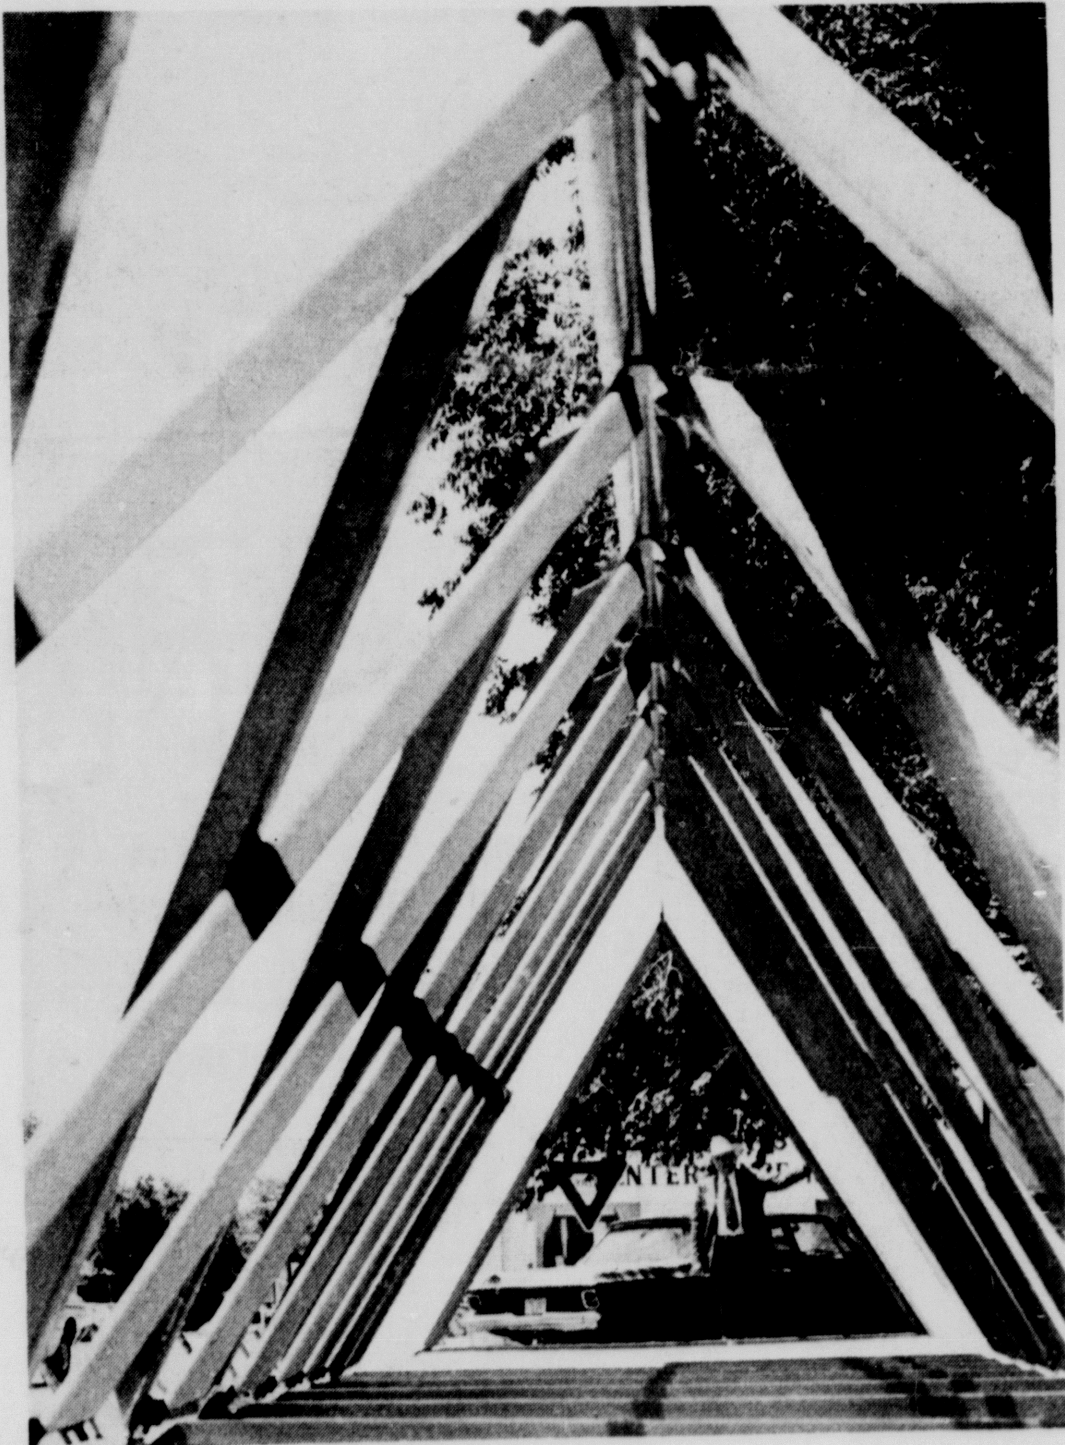

But, if county valuations are raised, the Canyon School District stands to lose some state funding for the local system.

Supt. Jerry Jacobs told board members that if the county revalues all property, the amount of state funding given the school district to operate will be cut.

He explained that the formula

Controversial Radio Tower Will Not Go Up Downtown

County commissioners, meeting in emergency session Wednesday afternoon, voted to change the planned location of a 250-foot radio tower originally set to be erected on the downtown courthouse square.

The commissioners were apparently spurred to the action following early week complaints by local citizens including Canyon city commissioners.

The tower, painted a bright orange and white, will be erected on a plot of ground just west of the county-owned barn at 17th Street and 1st Avenue in Canyon. The tower is self-supporting and does not require guy wires.

Sheriff Cliff Longest, obviously disgruntled by the forced moving of the tower, told commissioners it will cost about $1700 to have the tower moved from its location on the square.

However, a Panhandle Regional Planning Commission spokesman told the commissioners he would apply to the Texas Criminal Justice Council for inclusion of the moving and erection costs on the current grant. The tower and new radio equipment for the sheriff's office are being paid for through a cost-share grant from the council.

Workmen worked through the day Saturday putting the various pieces of the giant tower together in the east parking lot of the courthouse square. Late Saturday they painted it a bright orange and white.

The tower was to have been, erected in the corner of the east parking lot and would tower over Canyon at a height of 250 feet.

The tower is to be used by the sheriff's office, local police and the West Texas State University campus police for radio service. In addition, it will join the local units into a 26-county radio net with other law enforcement agencies in the Panhandle.

During a regular meeting Monday afternoon, commissioners had approved erection of the tower in the parking lot location and okayed the pruning of one of the giant elm trees on the square to make way for the tower.

More than a year ago, commissioners began the procedure of finding a location for the tower. At one point, they even almost entered into a contract with the City of Canyon for four acres of land adjacent the city dump for the tower construction. However, that location was abandoned when the Federal Aviation Agency told commissioners the tower would be in the flight pattern of the Canyon airport.

Mayor Manly Bryan and Chamber of Commerce President John Childs were present at Wednesday's emergency meeting. Neither participated in the discussion.

A Canyon News poll conducted Tuesday morning of merchants around the courthouse square indicated most of them objected to the erection of the tower downtown.

Longest said he personally had had no complaints about the tower's original location from any citizen.

"People around here talking about defacing their square, should take a look around them and see that old building in the southeast corner of the square or look at that old building boarded up with plywood," Longest said. "There are a lot more eyesores around here than that tower."

Home Building Costs Go Way Up

New home construction costs in Canyon have risen dramatically in the last year, but building permits issued during the first six months of 1974 indicate the housing boom here is not slowing down.

City Code Enforcement Officer Jerry Lehnick said the average cost of building a home in Canyon for the first six months of 1974 is $39,262. That compares with the average cost per home for construction during the similar period of 1973 of $26,857.

Lehnick attributed the high average cost this year to construction of somewhat larger homes but also to the skyrocketing cost of construction material.

A total of 26 building permits have been issued for housing construction during the first six months of this year as compared to 30 permits issued during the first half of 1973. Cost of the homes in 1973 totalled $805,700 while during the first half of 1974, the costs total $1,020,700.

Lehnick said 1973 was a record year for new home construction in the city with 68 residential permits issued for an average cost per unit of $30,300.

In 1972, 43 residences were issued permits at an average cost of $23,400 per home.

And, in 1971 43 residences were issued permits at an average cost of $19,350 per home.

Lehnick said that while many of the homes being constructed this year are larger, they are not that much larger than the homes constructed in years past to make the $20,000 per home difference between this year and 1971.

He cited recent examples of the kinds of costs which construction firms and workers must bear and pass on through housing costs.

"Electricians here in March had a 30 per cent increase across-the-board on supplies," he said.

Lehnick, who as code enforcement officer must ensure that homes are built to the minimum standards set by city ordinance, said many builders are cutting costs.

"Prices are still eating them up," he said. "One builder here

Shortages Seen Here In Houses

Housing for new families moving into the area is in critically short supply in Amarillo but Canyon's housing supply is just as limited, local real estate men said this week.

Demand for new and used homes is great in Amarillo and Canyon, but the supply cannot meet that demand.

Franklin Jeffers, Amarillo Realtor and president of the Texas Association of Realtors, told the Amarillo Advocate last week that it is impossible to find a single family residence in that city and equally impossible to find a home for sale in the $15,000 to $20,000 price range.

Jeffers said Amarillo had not yet felt the full impact of new industry locations and large numbers of new residents stand the chance of being unable to find adequate housing.

If they come to Canyon to look, the situation will be much the same, local real estate men noted.

Canyon Chamber of Commerce Manager Roland Black, eyeing a thick stack of housing requests on his desk, said there are no used homes available in the city and no houses for rent, either.

"We have a lot of people living in apartments until they can find a house," he said.

Jim Christopher of Christopher Real Estate said Canyon

Sheriff Cliff Longest stands at the far end of the controversial radio tower which was to have been erected in downtown Canyon for the sheriff's office communication network.

Longest said Tuesday the tower will be moved to some other spot in the county after local residents complained the tower would be an eyesore on the courthouse square.

Canyon Days Festivities Begin Sat. With Parade

A big break in the summer doldrums will come Saturday with the food, fun and freebies of the annual Canyon Days Celebration.

The World Championship Pony Express Races will begin Friday night and will continue Saturday after an afternoon of events for the family.

Sponsored by the Randall County Sheriff's Posse, the pony express races will involve eight teams from Texas and Oklahoma competing for a $2400 purse.

Races begin Friday at 8:30 p.m. rather than at the previously announced time of 8 p.m. The races will be at the sheriff's posse arena south of Canyon.

Teams will come from Lubbock, Sweetwater, Bowie, Vernon, Cleburne, Burleson and Atoka and Ardmore, Okla., for the races.

Admission to the races is $2 for adults and $1 for children under 12.

Finals in the pony express events will begin at 8:30 p.m. Saturday at the arena following a fun-filled afternoon of events sponsored by the Canyon Chamber of Commerce.

About 50 entries have reserved space for participation in the Canyon Days parade, which has been rescheduled from the noon hour until late afternoon on Saturday. The parade begins at 5 p.m. It will form up at 14th Street and 4th Avenue in downtown Canyon and will proceed east on 4th Avenue to 19th Street. Then, the parade will head south on 19th into Conner Park.

Entries in the parade include a home-grown German band headed by High School Principal John Sommer, floats from the Canyon service clubs; The Amarillo Khiva Klowns and motorcycle brigade; several riding clubs; Miss Canyon, Miss WTSU, Little Miss Canyon and Littlest Miss Canyon; the Canyon Fire Department; bicycles decorated under the sponsorship of the Evening Lions Club; an ROTC color guard, and several antique automobiles.

Dr. Lloyd I. Watkins, president of West Texas State University, will be parade marshal and will ride in a convertible rather than on horseback to lead the parade to the park.

In addition, Canyon's city commissioners will also ride in the parade as will State Sen. Jack Hightower and State Rep. Bryan Poff.

County Judge Woody Pond will work through the night Friday and all day Saturday preparing I've gotten so many calls about Senora Vigil's Mexican food restaurant in Santa Fe that I called the Santa Fe sheriff's office and talked to the senora's son, Mike. Name of the restaurant is El Dorado. Just look in the phone book when you get to Santa Fe and get the street number. It is located relatively close to the plaza and you will be rewarded for your trouble if you like really good Mexican food.

Reasonable prices too. If the phone book doesn't get you there just call the sheriff's office. Some one will tell you how to get there.

Our lieutenant governors continue to have reputations for romance.

Bill Hobby seems to be no exception. However, I don't think his picnic at 2:30 in the morning with a female British journalist is going to cost him any votes.

I don't buy the story that the lady is an "old family friend" since she says she met the lieutenant governor only the week before their nocturnal picnic in the Austin hill country.

Any way, I'm willing to wager that she is no longer a friend of Mrs. Hobby, if she ever was. Texans and Americans have come to disregard to a large extent the purely personal lives of their leaders.

Ben Barnes' divorce didn't cost him the election to governor. His connection, if only by his presence in the halls of government, with Sharpstown did. The biggest vote getter in the history of Texas, whom some said was destined to be President, went down to ignominious defeat, polling less than 10 per cent of the vote.

He was beaten even by Sissy Farenthold, who then habitually dressed in soiled dresses and ragged tennis shoes bore two dubious titles, witch of the Texas House and Den Mother of the Dirty Thirty.

The almost empty bottle of Cutty Sark and the half consumed magnum of wine found in his car when he was arrested for driving while intoxicated is another story in the political life of Bill Hobby. People will forgive the wee hours picnic. They look at that as being strictly Mr. Hobby's business, endangering the life of no one. Friends already arguing that it could happen to anyone. Maybe it could.

But not everyone aspires to be governor of Texas. People are sick to their stomachs of seeing their leaders in the prisoners' dock in the toils of the law they swore to uphold.

Spiro Agnew and Bill Hobby entered the same plea, no contest. I think the voters will remember. Hobby may be re-elected simply because it is too late for Republicans to mount a serious campaign but I don't think he will ever be governor. He will have to live with his no contest just like Ted Kennedy will have to live the rest of his life against the backdrop of Chappaquiddick.

I noticed a hundred yards away that there was something different about the flag men at 15th Street and Hereford Highway. Oblivious to traffic they twirled their flags adroitly as they danced in unison facing each other across the street.

As I approached the difference became apparent. The flag men were teenage girls obviously recruited from among cheerleaders at some area high school.

Navaho Tribal Guests Visit

Three Tribal Council members with the Parks and Recreation Commission of the Navajo Indian Nation were special visitors this week in the Canyon area. An "idea and information exchange" was held Monday morning at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Ples Harper in Canyon with Joe Domingo, Marciano Apachito and David S. Yazzie representing the Navajo Nation as they spoke about the accomplishments of their people in recent years. Joe Domingo, who studied at Wayland Baptist College, was primarily speaking at the exchange as he discussed the Torreon Trading Post in New Mexico. He also pointed out that a complete tour of the Navajo Reservation with Indian guides to interpret the scenery and legends of the Navajo begins at Window Rock, Arizona. The "reservation tours" are primarily operated during the summer and recreation on the reservation consists of rodeos and various square dances with religious intonation.

The Navajo Nation consists of a total of about 140,000 persons with 89,000 of those being children," he said. "It is a young nation with the girls outnumbering boys in a 3-1 ratio."

The Reservation which covers extensive areas in both New Mexico and Arizona has small community schools for the children, some federal contract schools and some public funded schools like the one in Cuba, N.M. which has high school facilities for 560 students. Many Indian students are still sent to boarding schools outside the reservations.

"At Window Rock," he noted, "we have a fairly new junior college which teaches the native arts of weaving, crafts and beadwork of the Indian culture."

Authentic Navajo designs in jewelry and other items are offered for sale through the many reservation trading posts including the Torreon Trading Post which is owned by the Domingo family. Items are available both retail and wholesale to dealers with individual profit on items going to those who created the artistic work.

According to the commission members, the park and recreation department at the reservation is presently considering incorporating a tourist attracting drama to be presented at the reservation. While here they were guests at the outdoor musical drama "TEXAS" and were introduced to the various cast members before the show. They were entertained by the "TEXAS" show and on Tuesday had breakfast with former Indian dancer from the show, Jim Holston.

Before leaving Canyon, the group had toured the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum on the campus and were guided on a tour of the campus by Bruce Darby who plays Quanah Parker in "TEXAS."

Several others from the "TEXAS" cast then escorted the guests to the airport in Amarillo after a brief drive in the city of Amarillo to see sights of interest.

Babe Ruth All-Star Tourney Set

An All-Star 13-year-old Babe Ruth double elimination tournament will be held in Canyon July 1-4. There will be five teams entered in the competition.

Each team entered will be limited to 15 players per team. There will be a two hour time limit on each game. Babe Ruth rules will apply in all games. All protests will be settled immediately by a committee of three.

All games will be played at Canyon's Babe Ruth baseball field located next to Conner Park. Jay Prosper will be head umpire for the games.

Stu Downing will coach the Canyon team entered in the contest. Members of the Canyon team include Mike Moore, Frank Palmer, Steve Palmer, Monte Bell, Charles Childs, Keith Melton, Jimmy Green, Billy Bender, Larry Whitson, Tod Nix, Ron Eller, Steve Schmidt, Danny Roberts, Ed Clement, David Roberts, Terry Rudd and Dee Haws. Two of these will be named as alternates at a later date.

Games set for July 1 are Berger vs. Panhandle, Oklahoma at 6:30 p.m. and Dumas vs. Canyon at 9 p.m. The loser of both games will play one another July 2 at 9 p.m.

On July 2 the winner of the Berger-Panhandle game will play Pampa. On July 3 the winners of the first losers' bracket will play the loser of the Pampa game at 9 p.m. Also on this day, the winner of the Canyon-Dumas game will play the winner of the Pampa game at 6:30 p.m.

On July 4, a game in the losers' bracket is set for 7:30 p.m.

On Friday, July 5, at 6:30 p.m. the final game will be played between the winner of the winners' bracket and the winner of the losers' bracket unless it is the first loss for the team. In that case, a second game will be played to choose the champion. John Childs is the tournament director.

Canyon Tripsters Home

A number of Canyon folks are pictured at St. Peter's Square in Rome where they recently visited as a tour group seeing seven countries in 21 days.

Local Folks Take Europe Trip

Seven countries in Europe were toured by a group from Canyon and immediate area during the past three weeks with Mrs. A. K. Goodman, serving as tour guide for arrangements.

The group toured in Holland, Austria, Germany, Switzerland, Italy France and England on their 21 day trip. Included on the tour with Mrs. Goodman were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Frank, Mrs. Bryce Slack, Mrs. Oscar Hinger, Mary Katherine Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gibson, Mrs. J. O. Parker, Mrs. Robert W. Foster of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Newton Richardson, Mrs. Opal Pond of Amarillo, formerly of Canyon; Mrs. William Winkler of Dawn, Mrs. Carolyn Tilger and daughter, Patricia, and Mr. and Mrs. Arch Hunsley.

Arriving in Amsterdam the group toured the canals and spent a half day seeing the cheese factories at Volendam where they saw Amsterdam men dressed in their "long bloomer style pants" and women dressed in "starched white hats" and the Dutch windmills which are not used as much anymore but are still used." According to Mrs. Goodman the Dutch are "reclaiming their lands from inundated areas as the land is located ten feet below sea level and must be constantly drained for use."

The group went into the Alp Mountains to Mount Pilatus by cable car and trolley and then in Austria had a 2 1/2 hour ride down the Rhine River on a steamer. They toured hillside castles in Heidelberg, Germany.

While in Venice, Italy they had a "moonlight gondola ride" and later saw St. Mark's Square which has buildings and castles situated on pilings sunk into the water. They saw the Bridge of Sighs where prisoners were transported across the street for executions and in Pisa saw many famous cathedrals and the baptistry.

On the Riviera they saw the castle home of Princess Grace (Kelly) Ranier of Monaco and toured the coliseums and catacombs (burial site for more than 100,000 Christians) in Rome along with the Tivoli Fountains and the Cannes Perfume Factories in France. In Versailles they spent the afternoon at the Louvre Art Museum where they saw the famous Mona Lisa and Venus de Milo along with other historical paintings of interest to the group.

They returned to England by way of a Hoover Craft and saw the traditional Canterbury Cathedrals in England, along with the changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace, the Tower of London and Westminster Abbey where funerals, marriages and other rites are performed. The Westminster Abbey is laid in the form of a cross.

While the tour group was spending the afternoon at Dicken's Curiosity Shop, Mrs. Goodman slipped away to travel by train 110 miles north for a brief visit with her cousins, Irene and Derrick Henson, at Grantham, England.

The 1974 tour of Europe was Mrs. Goodman's second tour, and she is presently making plans to tour there again next year.

'TEXAS' Pits Two In Parlay For Hand

"I'm having to learn to wear western boots," says Dwayne

Hood, who has been cast as the ranch foreman for the "TEXAS" spread this summer.

Hood said that his role is "unique for him in that he had never been around farm and ranch life except for an occasional visit with relatives." He was raised in Lubbock and graduated from Texas Tech in 1965. For the past four years he has been choral director for the Denver City High School and Junior High. Another "TEXAS" stage manager, Jim Meeks, is the drama instructor at Denver City.

To feel the role as Dave Newberry, Hood wears his cowboy boots, hat and other western attire for his offstage hours as well. "Even though I don't wear my guns offstage, I do take them with me each evening from the amphitheatre," he said.

Cast opposite Hood as the character Calvin Armstrong is Don Washburn. Washburn will be a junior drama-theatre student at West Texas State University this fall. He graduated from Tascosa High School in Amarillo and has lived for a few years with his grandparents at Hawley, Texas where they farm and he had the opportunity "to call in the cows."

In his theatrical castings,

Washburn has primarily played more sophisticated character roles and was this past season the deaf mute in "Madwoman of Chaillot" presented at the university here.

Last summer he played the understudy to the role he is playing onstage this year. "I only had one onstage performance as Calvin the whole summer of 1973," he said. In addition to serving as Calvin's understudy last year, Washburn was also in several other capacities with the outdoor drama.

"I like the way Paul Green wrote the spirit into Calvin's role," commented Washburn. "He is a strong character but has his weak and human moments especially where it concerns Elsie."

In his role as Dave Newberry, Dwayne Hood finds that his scenes have also been well written by Green. "Ole Dave is really working for Elsie's hand because he sees it as a step up in life for himself."

Hood has played a season with Casa Manana Theatre in Fort Worth and his other stage accomplishments include numerous roles, among them:

Charley in "Brigadoon," as the old man in "Androcles and The Lion" and Rolf in "Sound of Music."

Both Hood and Washburn are single fellows and fill their days with various activities, but as the sun sets each evening on the Pioneer Amphitheatre in Palo Duro Canyon they assume their character roles in their fight for the "true love of Elsie."

Woman Serves As Aide For WT Sorority

Mrs. Shirley Harrold of 1014 South Parker in Amarillo is currently serving as regional aide to Delta Beta Chapter of Gamma Sigma Sigma National Service Sorority at West Texas State University.

Other positions she holds are Public Relations Assistant for the Lone Star Region and chairman of the Wheatheart Alumnae Colony of Gamma Sigma Sigma in Amarillo. She is presently a secretary to a department head for the City of Amarillo.

She is a graduate of West Texas State University where she earned a Bachelor of Science degree while majoring in Psychology and minoring in Business Administration and sociology. As an undergraduate she was active in Delta Beta chapter of Gamma Sigma Sigma and held the positions of first vice president, corresponding secretary, treasurer and senate representative. She was also a dorm council representative and an entertainer in the campus coffee house.

Founded in 1952, Gamma Sigma Sigma is the largest women's service sorority in the United States. At present there are over 150 undergraduate and alumnae chapters and colonies dedicated to the ideals of service, friendship, and equality. The requirement for membership is willingness to give volunteer service to school, community, and nation. The organization's national project is working in public health.

HD Council Has Meeting

Randall County Home Demonstration Council met Monday afternoon at the Farm Bureau Building with Mrs. Clarence Howard, council chairman, as hostess and presiding officer.

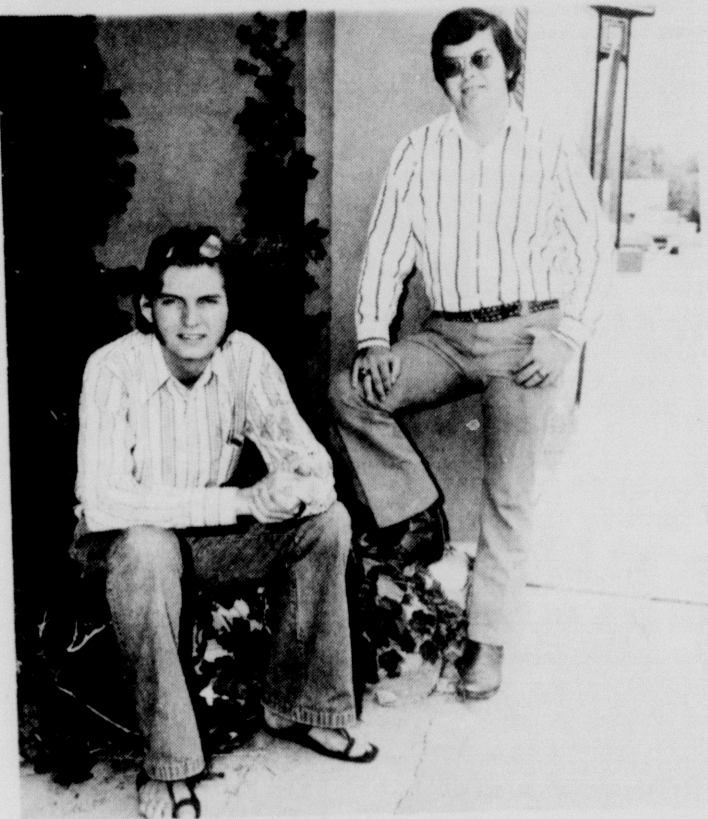

The hostess gift was won by Mrs. Bernard Grabber and nine council members, four officers and the home demonstration agent, Becky Hall, were present for the final meeting of the current year.

During the business meeting it was announced that the book on "household hints" will be ordered by week's end by Mrs. Max Bosley. Others desiring a copy of the book should contact Mrs. Bosley shortly.

Council members discussed the upcoming 4-H Dress Revue for July 9 where they will provide cookies and punch and Becky Hall presented a brief discussion of the 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M where she took two 4-H girls under sponsorship of the HD Council.

Plans were also reviewed in regard to the State Home Demonstration Convention to be held at the Hilton Inn in Amarillo September 17-20. The local delegation will be responsible for making nametags for District I delegates and each club in Randall County has been assigned to provide two dozen cookies for a reception honoring Mrs. Charles Warminski, outgoing district I president, who is seeking the state treasurer's post.

The Randall County HD Council closed the meeting to resume regular meetings in the fall.

DWAYNE HOOD and Don Washburn, seated, are cast opposite each other in their hopes of gaining the sweet hand of Elsie (Neva Chowning) in the summer outdoor musical "TEXAS" where Hood plays the ranch foreman Dave Newberry and Don Washburn is cast as the farmer Calvin Armstrong.

Salad Blending Tricks Given By Agent

Salads and accompaniment dressings are an easy trick using the blender, according to Randall County Home Demonstration Agent, Becky Hall.

Mrs. Hall discussed "Blender Tricks for Moderns" in a recent round of meetings with various home demonstration clubs across the county.

Cole Slaw
1 small head cabbage
1/2 green pepper
1/2 medium onion
1 medium carrot
1 teaspoon caraway seed (optional)
Quarter cabbage and remove core. Slice cabbage coarsely into blender container along with half the green pepper, onion and carrot, filling container to top. Add cold water to within 1 inch of top, cover and blend for 2 seconds. Be careful not to over blend. Empty vegetables into a sieve to drain and repeat until all vegetables are shredded. Empty drained vegetables into salad bowl and sprinkle with caraway seeds.

Cole Slaw Dressing
1/2 cup radishes, sliced
1/2 cup cucumber, pared and diced
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
3 tablespoons sugar
1/4 cup salad oil
1/4 cup white vinegar
4 ice cubes
Put all ingredients in blender container. Blend a few seconds. Use as dressing for coleslaw.

Fruit Gelatin
1 package orange-flavored gelatin
1/2 cup boiling water or juice from any canned fruit
1 cup cold water or canned fruit juice
8 marshmallows, quartered
1/2 cup sweet grapes, halved and seeds removed
1/4 cup pitted dates
1 orange, peeled and sliced
1 banana, peeled and sliced
Put gelatin in blender container and add boiling water or fruit juice. Cover container and blend on low speed until gelatin is dissolved. Add cold water or juice, marshmallows, grapes, and dates. Cover container and blend on low speed for 5 seconds. Turn into mixing bowl and chill until partly set, stirring two or three times during chilling process. Fold in orange and banana. Turn into desired molds and chill until firm. Serve with plain cream, sweetened and flavored whipped cream, or custard sauce.

Frozen Fruit Salad
1 cup whipping cream
3 tablespoons hot pineapple juice
1 teaspoon plain gelatin
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon maraschino cherry juice
1 banana, cut in pieces
1/2 cup mayonnaise
Dash of salt
12 marshmallows
1 9-ounce can crushed pineapple
1/2 cup maraschino cherries, quartered
Pour cream in blender container, whip and pour in bowl. Drain pineapple and heat 3 tablespoons of the juice. Put gelatin in blender container and add hot pineapple juice. Blend and add cherry juice, banana, mayonnaise and salt. Blend until smooth and with blender running, add marshmallows through center opening in cover. When marshmallows are blended fold mixture into whipped cream along with drained pineapple and cherries.

ing the barbecue dinner which will be served in Conner Park just after the parade breaks up. Official serving time is 6 p.m. in the park.

The menu will include barbecued beef, beans and all the trimmings including iced tea. More than 2000 persons are expected for the meal, which features Pond's own recipe for barbecue sauce.

Cost of the meal is $2 for adults and $1.50 for children under 12 years of age.

During the barbecue, boys from the Amarillo Mavericks Club will perform tumbling acts in the park.

The big drawing for the Canyon Days Celebration giveaway will begin at 7 p.m. at the park. A color television set is the main prize to be drawn from thousands of names signed with Canyon merchants.

John Childs, president of the chamber, will do the drawing from a flat-bed truck. More than 40 prizes have been donated by local merchants for the giveaway.

Also during the drawing, the first five numbered sets of Randall County commemorative coins will be auctioned to the highest bidder. Each set contains a gold, silver and bronze numbered coin and the value of the sets is $100 each.

Championship rounds of the pony express races begin at 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Final plans are also being laid for the big Canyon 4th of July Celebration scheduled next Thursday. Final plans will be announced in the Sunday News.

won't even price a home until he builds it and knows what he has in it."

Lehnick said the city's standards for construction of homes was created in the late 1950s and throughout the years following the passage, most home builders used materials and construction techniques which were well above the minimum standards.

Not any more. "Now they're as close to the minimum as they can get," he said. "There are exceptions in this but that's what's making a $60,000 or $70,000 home. To get a home close to what was paid last year, they have to cut every corner they can."

Building permits for the first half of 1974 were about $300,000 above the same period in 1973.

Records indicate permits totalled $1,515,392 for the first six months of this year while in 1973 the permits totalled $1,127,785 for the first half.

The total for the first half of 1974 includes a church building, with permit issued for $390,000. The total for the first half of 1973 included one commercial building and the remodeling of dormitories on the West Texas State University campus.

probably has an adequate supply of homes in the above $30,000 price range but a real shortage of homes with price tags under that figure.

He said there are used homes available in the city, "but not nearly the selection to fit the needs."

Christopher said in the last 60 days Canyon has been deluged with persons interested in purchasing homes but the homes have simply not been available.

A.L. Crossland of Crossland Real Estate agreed with Christopher.

"We don't have anything close enough," Crossland said. "We're awfully short of homes."

Crossland said Canyon is extremely short of homes in the $26,000 to $32,000 price range.

Larry Hooper, co-developer of the Davis-Hooper Addition in west Canyon, said demand has been good for the homes built in his addition. Most of the homes are in the mid-$20,000 price range. He said only two homes are now for sale in the addition, the remainder having been sold.

Several more homes are due construction in the addition in the near future, he said.

A spokesman for the Hunsley Hills Development in north Canyon said demand has been very good for homes in the city.

The development now has three homes for sale and 10 homes under construction and due completion within 90 days.

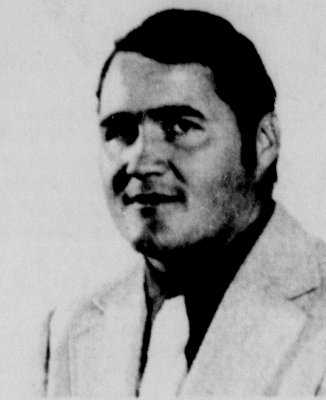

"We'd like to see more going because we think the demand is going to be there," he said.

Jimmy Campbell

Campbell Named WTSU Athletic Business Manager

Jimmy Campbell, an assistant football coach at West Texas State University for the past three years, has been named the school's athletic business manager.

Campbell replaces Wayne Ray, who resigned last week to become the athletic business manager at North Texas State University.

"Jimmy will start to work at once," said athletic director Gene Mayfield. "He will direct the selling campaign for season football tickets."

Campbell, from Odessa, was a standout defensive end at West Texas State. He started 31 consecutive games for the Buffaloes, including the 1967 35-13 victory over San Fernando Valley State in the Pasadena Bowl.

The new business manager earned the President's Award for his play during his senior season in 1967. He was named to the Dallas Morning News All-Texas College team in 1966 and was a Phi All-American in 1966 and 1967.

A 1968 graduate of West Texas State, Campbell played linebacker for the San Diego Chargers in 1968 and 1969 and for the Washington Redskins in 1970.

In addition to his assistant football coaching duties, he was the coach in charge of the Buffalo and Beef clubs for West Texas State. The Buffalo Club provides a means for fund-raising for the athletic department and the Beef Club provides additional food for West Texas State athletes during the school year.

Mayfield will hire another football coach to replace Campbell on the staff and said some shifts in duties will take up the Buffalo and Beef clubs within the staff.

Operation Avalanche Signups

By REBA RAEF
HELLO, AGAIN, FROM Umbarger. Since the week of July 4th has been designated as "Operation Avalanche," a national effort to make Washington, D.C. aware of the need for a constitutional amendment to protect the "right to life" for all ages, maybe we'd all better get behind this movement and support it. There are, at this time, amendments before the subcommittee of Senator Birch Bayh, that would legalize abortions everywhere and if that succeeds, how long will it be before our society will find euthanasia (mercy killing) a quick and easy way to dispose of the "old folks" who are no longer useful and who are deformed or retarded.

So, if we care, now is the time to speak up and let your U.S. Senators and Representatives know how you feel about this. We will have a petition in our store for the next several days concerning this and if you care, you may sign it and we will see that it gets to the proper people. St. Mary's Altar Society and Christian Mothers are sponsoring this

THE FOURTH DEGREE

Joe Grotegut is the Faithful Navigator; Jack Brandt is Faithful Captain; John Wick, Faithful Admiral; Lewie Raef, Faithful Comptroller; Sylvester Batenhorst, Faithful Pilot; Anton Handing, Faithful Inside Sentinel and Clarence Beckman, Faithful Outside Sentinel.

ELAINE RAMAEKERS IS one of seven students who left last Monday for a week's stay in Mexico City. They will visit the museum, the bull fights, the pyramids, and other points of interest while there. They were accompanied on the trip by Eddie Smith, their Spanish teacher last year at Canyon High. They traveled by air.

OUR PASTOR, MSGR. M. F. Schafle, has returned from a short jaunt to Colorado Springs. He met his brother, Frank, and his wife and son, Greg, who are from Los Angeles and they visited the Royal Gorge, Salida, Hartzel and other points of interest in the area. Frank and his family stopped by on Monday on their way home. On July 1, Father will start his vacation. From July 14 to 21, he will attend the International Catholic Deaf Convention at the Baker Hotel in Over 50 boys and girls have begun their sewing projects in 4-H which will be entered in the county revue.

Dallas. From July 23 to August 13, he will be at the Deaf Center in New Orleans. From August 14 to August 18, he will attend the Deaf Community week, in Houston.

The first two weeks of his vacation are "free time," so he should have much to tell us when he returns. Have a nice vacation, Father.

EACH SUNDAY MORNING throughout the summer, between Masses, the C.Y.O. will sponsor an old fashioned "gab session," complete with coffee, orange juice and donuts. They invite you to come and enjoy the refreshments while you visit.

THE C.Y.O. IS also sponsoring an aluminum can drive. If you have cans for them, please call Donna Hartman at 499-2878 or Wade Wilhelm, at 499-2873. The C.Y.O. would appreciate it if you would put the cans in bags for them.

SISTER MARY THERESA, aunt of Mrs. R. D. Friemel, spent a week visiting in the Friemel home recently. She belongs to the Immaculate Conception Order in Patterson, New Jersey.

THE FOURTH DEGREE Knight will have their quarterly supper on June 30, so keep that evening open, all you Knights.

A BELATED "HAPPY Birthday" to Bettye Funk, who celebrated her birthday last Sunday. She was honored with a surprise party by Sylvia Gomez.

THE DON RAEFS, of Amarillo camped out down at Buffalo Lake last weekend. They stopped by on their way home and they reported a good time was had by all.

VINCENT AND GLADYS Meyer and children have moved to their new home just west of Canyon. They've told us that they will not forget us and will continue to take part in Umbarger activities. Vincent will still work here in Umbarger. We wish them much happiness in their new home.

Voluntary Community Service Aim Of Junior Forum

By LORENA MILLER
In its charter year, Canyon Junior Forum members gave a total of 532 1/2 hours of volunteer service benefitting the Canyon Public Schools. The voluntary posts filled required almost equal hours for the library and nurses station at the schools of the district including Rex Reeves and Gene Howe Elementary, Canyon Junior High and Canyon High School.

Voluntary service is the basic goal of the Junior Forum which is a new styled organization unique to Canyon. Chartering with 46 members pledging themselves to the purpose of giving their "time and effort" to the community the group has taken the school system as their main project for the past year.

Mrs. Larry Brandon served as charter president and was the originator of the Canyon group.

Farm-Ranch Families May Be Recognized In State Land Heritage Program

Randall County farm and ranch families who have held the same land since 1874 and before will be honored in a "Family Land Heritage Program" by the Texas Department of Agriculture, according to John C. White, Commissioner.

Families who are certified by County Judge Woody Pond will qualify for the honors in the program to be initiated July 1. Applications and rules for the program may be obtained by writing Commissioner White, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Miller and her brother, Marvin D. Long, all of Canyon were in Lubbock Sunday to visit with their mother, Bonnie Long, at Methodist Hospital there. Mrs. Long is recuperating from hip replacement surgery.

The idea of the Canyon Junior Forum was first presented in February 1973 when Mrs. Brandon was contacted by her sister, Mrs. James Hurley of Houston, who was the 1972-73 president of the Houston Junior Forum. She discussed the idea of the forum with other young women of the community who held a common bond in their children and thus came the selection of the schools for the service of the group.

Serving alongside Mrs. Brandon for the first year were Mrs. L.D. Truitt, first vice president; Mary Lou Farnum, second vice president; Mrs. J. Pat Stephens, third vice president; Mrs. Jerry Miller, fourth vice president; Mrs. Gene Glazener, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Wayne Ray, recording secretary; Mrs. William Ritchie, parliamentarian; and Mrs. Steve Hines, treasurer.

Regular monthly meetings where guest speakers delved into topics of interest to the volunteer workers included special programs relating to the growth and lives of their children. Speaking for the group this year have been Jerry Jacobs who discussed the role of the Junior Forum in helping the school system; Claude Zevely, assistant professor of elementary education and director of the University Center for Exceptional and Handicapped Children, who presented "A Gift of Life For A Lifetime;" Ruth Holladay, secondary curriculum coordinator for the Canyon Public Schools, who titled her program "Everyone Needs A Zucchini;" and then in December the membership was presented with a floral demonstration by H.R. Fulton about floral arrangements for the holiday season; and Dr. Tom Cannon of the university psychology department who presented "Rats, Pigeons and Children."

In addition to their forum programs, members of the forum are required to serve a minimum of 18 volunteer hours in the service project. From their membership three members were recognized for outstanding service work including Jane Wheeler who gave 45 volunteer hours; Kathy Glazener, 41 hours; and Mary Truitt, 30 volunteer hours. Working alongside the three were numerous other members to compile the total of 532 1/2 hours of voluntary service for 1973-74.

Other than their monthly programs, the social angle is dispensed with by the group and only volunteer hours are counted. In the American tradition of volunteer service, the forum joined with the school system for the purpose of assisting in areas where either students, faculty or the administrative staff could most effectively utilize their many and varied talents to improve the quality of education in Canyon without increasing the costs.

The main goals of the Canyon Junior Forum are:

- * Assisting teachers with non-teaching tasks.
- * Helping children develop more positive attitudes toward school and academic achievement.
- * Giving teachers more time for professional instruction.
- * Providing a better understanding of school problems and stimulating widespread support for public education.
- * Providing needed services to individual children and small groups.
- * Strengthening relations between the school and the community.
- * Enriching school programs by furnishing human resources from the community.

* Helping education reach a more personal level and contributing to a meaningful individualized learning process for more children.

In the service of their volunteer work members are required to wear the uniform of the group which includes a red jacket, white blouse, blue skirt or trousers. Volunteers must sign for their service hours on a monthly basis and are first taken into the group as prospective members for a year during which they are allowed to all rights of membership except voting.

The first year as a prospective member, women are urged to participate and see what effect that the volunteer hours will play in their life. If desirous at the end of the prospective year, the new members are then installed into the group. Membership is open to young women between the ages of 20-40 and members are required to attend a minimum of six regular meetings during the club year.

"The Only True Gift Is a Portion of Thyself" by Emerson was the theme used by Mrs. Brandon as she retired from the presidential role and conducted the installation rites for the new slate of officers to include Mrs. Gene (Kathy) Glazener as president for the coming year.

Outstanding Member Selected By Forum

JANE STEPHENS was recognized recently as the "outstanding member" for Canyon Junior Forum.

The outstanding member of the Canyon Junior Forum selected recently was Mrs. J. Pat (Jane) Stephens who was a charter member of the service oriented group.

Mrs. Stephens served during her charter year as the third vice president with the responsibility of coordinating volunteer service of Forum members in their effort to aid the schools.

A graduate of Abilene High School, Mrs. Stephens has studied in many areas of the states and foreign countries as her father was a career Air Force man. She graduated from West Texas State University and earned the bachelor degree in social studies.

Her husband, Pat, was at the time teaching in political science at the university "but I didn't have any of his classes," she related. The couple married in 1963 and later went to the University of Missouri for two years where he earned the Ph.D. returning to Canyon and the university as a political science teacher. During this time Mrs. Stephens was instructing French classes, although her major had been social studies. After taking extra hours to qualify for teaching French, Mrs. Stephens served in the Amarillo High School, taught while at Columbia and returned to Canyon to teach until the children, Jennifer, 4, and Robert, 3, joined the Stephens.

"After taking care of the home and children, it is very important to the modern woman to become involved in a useful project which is a gift to future generations," related Mrs. Stephens.

As third vice president of the Junior Forum, Mrs. Stephens was involved in coordinating voluntary work of members and met periodically with Jerry Jacobs, school superintendent, as well as Eleanor Dekard, school nurse, and librarians, Jean Lair, Hazel Sunderman, Jackie Patterson, Posey Wright and Elizabeth Wilson.

In the realms of community service, Mrs. Stephens is also a worker with Meals-On-Wheels, a service group which provides hot lunches to the elderly of the community.

Hobbywise Mrs. Stephens enjoys gardening "in her own backyard" and tile painting for her leisure time. She first learned the art of tile painting from Mrs. Richmond Hales during a program offered the American Association of University Women last year.

She also serves her church by teaching alongside her husband at the senior high level at the First Presbyterian Church of Canyon. Her husband is also a deacon for the church and is the author of a book being published which relates the history of the First Presbyterian Church in Canyon.

As a member of the Bi-Centennial Committee, Mrs. Stephens is Canyon's representative to the group with her duties being the chairmanship of the Festival Committee which is currently making arrangements for the play being written by Paul Green, author of "TEXAS" outdoor drama, which will also be staged in Pioneer Amphitheatre at the canyons. The Festival Committee will also assemble a catalogue of speakers noted for their knowledge of historical events in American history. The catalogue, which will be available to area civic, business, schools and other groups, will also include information regarding films and tape recordings, film strips and slides which are available for programs.

A major function of the Festival Committee is planning special events and projects to be held in conjunction with the Canyon Days Celebrations for 1975-76.

Mrs. Stephens has served the community as a substitute teacher in English and Social Studies through the years and her husband is involved as a member of the city commission here.

Fantastic Journey

Several members of the Canyon News staff and their families attended the preview opening of "Fantastic Journey" at Wonderland Amusement Park in Amarillo Thursday evening.

The new ride, added to the park facility this season, is an indoor ride with darkened atmosphere, "spooks, goblins and other sights and is a first for the local facility.

Wedding Reception Honors Newlyweds

A wedding reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. Haley Burke was held June 16 in the Forum Room of the Wilbarger Memorial Auditorium in Vernon. The couple was married in Canyon on May 29.

H. Burke of Vernon.

Miss Billie Helene Hill, sister of the bride, of Briscoe registered guests along with Misses Debbie and Dawn Cochran, nieces of the bridegroom from Merced, California; and Miss Pam Dawson of Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Hostesses assisting at the event were Mrs. Carol Kirby, Mrs. Charles Norwood, Mrs. M. T. Moore, Mrs. W. C. Richerson, Mrs. Roy Hoffman, and Mrs.

GENE HOWE NEWS

Runners Win Dashes

By TROYCE MULHERIN

IN THE RECENT Amarillo Parks and Recreation Department Track Meet, Gene Howe was adequately represented in both the Bantam Division (9 years of age and under), and in the Midget Division (10 through 12). And, although first place ribbons were hard to come by, our team members gave an excellent account of themselves.

Casey Myers entered the 50 and 75 yard dashes in the Bantam Division, placing first in his semifinals heat of the 75 and eventually finishing seventh in the finals.

In the Midget Division individual events, Terry Miller won both of his preliminary races in the 50 yard dash and placed second in the finals in the excellent time of 6.6 seconds. Terry also qualified for the finals in the 100 yard dash, and again placed second in the finals in the time of 13.05 seconds.

Larry Ray, like Terry, qualified for both the 50 and 100 yard finals with a time of 7.1. Then later, Larry placed fifth in the 100 yard dash finals with 13.7 seconds.

Cory Myers won his preliminary heat of the 100 yard dash with an excellent time of 13 seconds flat. Cory finished fourth in the 100 finals with only a hair's breadth separating the first four finishers.

Later in the day Cory stepped up in class/division in order to participate in the 220 yard dash and showed real well by placing sixth against older and more seasoned runners.

The 440 yard sprint relay team turned the quarter mile in "fair to middlin'" time of 60.1 seconds, which was good enough for second place in their heat and earned a third place overall. The team boasted a quartet of Larry Ray, Todd Glover, Terry Miller and Cory Myers.

All in all, Gene Howe's Falcons brought home nine ribbons that will go up on the bulletin boards — ribbons the Falcons can be justly proud of.

On June 29th the team will travel to Hereford and enter the local track meet there. Then on the following Saturday, they again will take to the road to Borger for the AAU Junior Olympics qualifying meet. Let's wish these youngsters luck on these out-of-town competitions! (Thanks are due, and hereby given, Don Myers for furnishing the foregoing information).

CAROL BAYS' SIXTH grade girls won over Ridgecrest last week with a baseball score of 14-11. Homerun hitters included Tyra Solbrig, Doreen Davee and Cece Bays.

Gene Powers and Larry Brooks are co-coaching the third grade boys in T-ball this summer. Team members include Kirk Balke, John Brooks, Wayne Bruffett, Dusty Dove, Gary Evans, David Hamilton, Dwayne Hollis, Greg Maples, Mike Morgan, Scott Powers, Michael Rhea, Scott Sauer, Kevin Smith and Dale Whitehead from Gene Howe. Kenny Ramey and Chris Poole, both from Western Plateau School, are playing with this team, as there was no team at their school this summer. Nice to have these youngsters join with our Gene Howelanders.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO Sherrie Cates as of the 25th. Happies, too, to Don Wilcox, who birthdays on the 29th.

THE FIRST GRADE girls being coached by Tanya Holt enjoyed a spirited, but nerve-racking, game with South Lawn last week. Our girls were pleased with a too-close-to-be-comfortable score of 48-37.

Homerun hitters were Leslie Gwyn, Allison Kitten and Tracy Betty. In fact, Tracy racked up two homers for the ol' score. Jackie Mayfield assists with the coaching of this T-ball team. In last week's game against South Georgia, Shannon Baker, Dawn Brennen and Allison Kitten made it all the way around the diamond with their hits!

THE FIFTH GRADE girls, co-coached by Kenneth Drost and George Schmidt have had some lively games. During the game with Margaret Wills, Jo Delaney, Cathy Call and Cindy Yarbrough racked up homers. In the 24-11 win over Oakdale, Dena Harp, Debra Drost and Carla Schmidt contributed homers to the scoring.

THE MENFOLK IN the Mulherin family took off for Red River this past week end for a "work" session. Troy Thompson joined with Marty and Guy for some of that good ol' mountain air.

They "brought the bacon home" with them 'cause Troy and Marty caught enough stream trout for breakfast. (Just how does one correlate catching fish with a "work" trip? Oh, well... they came home with smiles on their faces anyway.

HAPPINESS IS GATHERING your very own, still warm, eggs from your very own chickens. (Whole new world for non-farmer types). Unhappiness is having one chicken missing. Double unhappiness is having one fat cat, whose breath smells suspicious.

BELATED HAPPIES TO Jill Hale, daughter of Harold and Janette, who became six big years old last Sunday. She partied on Saturday, having several of her friends over for cake and games. Troy Cates, Beth Powers, Ann Duncan, Carmen Cannon, Lisa Block, Diane Drost, Jan Phipps, Tad McCoy, Tom Robinson, and Starla and Brannon Hamar came over for the fun and happy birthday wishing.

THE ELFA AND Benney Turner family will be leaving Gene Howe Land come August. The Turners have bought themselves a farm in Abernathy and are anxiously awaiting the day for their long anticipated move.

Elfa and Benney are both "farm people" and have been planning on this move for a long time. The youngsters are really excited over their upcoming move.

With a "hope your crops and stock grow and flourish," we regrettably bid the Turners goodbye, and wish them the very best in their new/old lifestyle!

HAROLD AND JANETTE Hale, accompanied by daughter Jill, followed the tornadoes and floods across Oklahoma and into Missouri during a recent visit with Janette's brother. The group stayed on Monkey Island in the Grand Lake. They also visited Silver Dollar City in Missouri. Silver Dollar City is located near Branson, a large resort area.

The City was developed around Marble Cave, one of the largest natural caves open to the public in the nation. Previous to the Hales' arrival the cave had been closed due to high waters. Janette said the underground lake was still high while they were there, but that they were able to tour the cave, ignoring the mud.

Silver Dollar City boasts a large display of various arts and crafts, some being quite old in nature. They enjoyed watching the jelly making, the candy making, the broom making, basket weaving, and riding the rides. Back home for planning a "maybe" trip to the mountains to cook off some.

THANKS FOR THE use of the hall. Don't be bashful about calling with your company and trip news!

Sponsored by Southwestern Public Service, the camp will include project learning in electricity along with 4-H leadership activities.

The local delegation will travel by chartered bus with Becky Hall, home demonstration agent, and John Brazzil, county agricultural agent, accompanying the students along with several adult 4-H leaders.

Delegates attending will be Gary Reynolds of Cleta 4-H Club and Janet Wilhelm of Umbarger 4-H Club. Other 4-Hers attending from Randall County will include Ronda Davis and David Abbott, both of Jowell 4-H Club; and Linda Rameakers and Ronnie Adams, both of Umbarger 4-H Club.

CANYON DAMES were entertained with a facial make-up demonstration following a noon luncheon meeting at the Episcopal University Center Thursday. Demonstrator Becky Ingle is shown demonstrating "facial uplift important to basic beauty make-up" as Kay Madewell serves as model for the demonstration. The luncheon featured tables decorated with miniature flower baskets and plans were discussed for an upcoming watermelon feast for members and their families.

Week end houseguests of Mrs. Gladis Samples were her sons and their families including Mr. and Mrs. Billy Samples of Hurst, Texas and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Samples, Jr. and daughter, Pamela, of Aberdeen, Scotland. Curtis Samples, Jr. is employed with McCullough Oil Well Service in Scotland.

Readin' And Writin'

By LORENA MILLER
Read where an outstanding attraction from the Brussels World Fair will be among the summer entertainment being offered up at the Amarillo Civic Center.

The International Water Follies, renowned as the world's largest water and stage show, will also be featured at EXPO '74 in Spokane, Wash. They will perform there July 12, 13 and 14 under the sponsorship of the Amarillo Rotary Club with proceeds to benefit the Regional Hearing and Speech Foundation.

That's what I like about those Rotarians, Kiwanians, Lions and other civic minded groups — they sponsor worthwhile events and give their proceeds to worthwhile causes. That is my main reason for attending the "bingo games" at the Tri-State Fair each fall 'cause I feel like my dimes and quarters go for something worthwhile. Never have had much luck at winning, but it's all in fun anyway!

Joe Domingo of the Navaho Indian Tribal Council mentioned the early appearance of the "pinon" at his home area in the Navaho Indian Reservation section of New Mexico. He said that "appearance of pinon this early in the summer months means that a hard winter will be ahead."

And by the way "where is Spring" — seems like summer and hot weather got here as soon as the winter snows melted. Recon we'll slip right by Fall into Winter this year?

Meanwhile it is hot and picnic days in the outdoors are always the in-thing for summer entertaining but beware that proper cooling of food is a very important fact to have in mind because most foods will spoil when away from refrigeration because of the rapid growth of bacteria to cause food poisoning.

—O—O—
And when the heat gets to 95-100 degrees for days on end you sort of expect to see some lemonade and cool drink stands under a shade tree as some enterprising youngster makes funds for a movie — but I haven't seen any around. Guess they (the kids) are cooling off under the air conditioner, too.

Teaching Elementary Math In Spanish Exceeds Expectations

Teaching elementary mathematics in Spanish has produced more than the participants and instructor expected in the West Texas State University pilot class this summer.

"The students can really communicate in Spanish, not only in the context of mathematics, but in the familiar context of the needs of the classroom," says

WTSU Mathematics Professor Miguel Tarrab, instructor of Bilingual Mathematics 490-1.

And participants agree that learning Spanish and math together is more fun and profitable than they had anticipated.

The course, created due to the Legislative act which calls for bilingual education to be made available on the elementary level this fall, was begun at WT to "provide supplementary skills to prospective and in-service teachers," Tarrab says.

"The main objective was to train the teachers to be able to communicate in Spanish within the context of math," Tarrab notes.

"It's hard enough to teach mathematics as it is," Tarrab says laughingly. But he believes the "objectives have been fully accomplished," and then some, for the students have learned to both question and respond completely in languages in the total classroom situation.

Prospective teacher Denise Walker of Amarillo, a WTSU education major, describes the course as "interesting." One of the few students in the course with any previous knowledge of Spanish, she was tremendously impressed by the instruction that came only from an English book, "which made us learn more in Spanish."

Panhandle Junior High School math teacher Ida Dickson "learned much more than I anticipated."

"Everyone will need this intriguing course," she says.

Lester Kirkland of Vega, a WTSU student to graduate in August, expects the course to help him in his teaching at Hereford this fall. With this course, he says, "you could teach Spanish-speaking students enough to where they know something."

West Texas State student Roy Good of Dumas says "we've needed something like this for a long time."

He describes Dr. Tarrab as "really interesting" with a natural accent that makes learning Spanish much easier. Tarrab is a native Cuban.

Good, too, expresses the group's feeling that "I'm learning a lot more than I thought I would."

"Intriguing," "Everyone will need it," are just a few of the comments about the first Bilingual Mathematics course for teachers taught at West Texas State University by Dr. Miguel Tarrab.

Teacher For Bible Class To Be Chosen

A teacher for the Biblical Literature class to be offered the second quarter at Canyon High School will be chosen by the Canyon Ministerial Alliance at their next meeting in September. The board of education for the Canyon Independent School District will make final approval on the choice.

Those being considered for the position are David Melber, pastor of St. Paul Lutheran Church, Darold Baldwin, assistant pastor at the First Baptist Church, Bill Mayes, assistant pastor at Central Church of Christ, Terry White, pastor of the First Christian Church, Rene Heil, and Bill Webb, director of the Baptist Student Union in the WTSU campus.

A recommendation will be made to the alliance by a committee composed of Baldwin, Stribling, chairman, Don Lacy, Derrel Lewis and Terry White.

The class will be offered for the first time beginning in the fall 1974. Old Testament survey and New Testament survey courses will be taught. The text for the course is yet to be chosen.

A fund for the financial support of the course has been established by the ministerial alliance. Those wishing to contribute to the fund are asked to make checks payable to Canyon Pastors Association Bible Course.

Yearbook Staff At Seminar Meet

Three Canyon High School students including Tara Wooten, Aletha Magness and Laurie Davidchik, and advisor, Mrs. Jean Shepic, are among some 150 yearbook staff members attending the fifth annual Angelo State University Yearbook Seminar being held on the campus in San Angelo this week.

The seminar will draw to a close with a noon banquet-type luncheon Friday, June 28, and has been made up of five days of intensive instructional sessions aimed at getting the staff members ready to prepare their 1975 school yearbooks. Morning sessions have covered all aspects of yearbook production work.

Afternoon sessions are divided into small groups based on the size of respective schools and students work in lab-type sessions on actual layouts of 1975 yearbooks. Special sessions are also being held for staff photographers attending the workshop with particular attention focused on new photographers with emphasis given to use of the photography lab.

In addition to the work sessions, student participants are involved in social and recreational activities this week including western style barbecues at the University Lakehouse and informal mixers on campus.

Miss Welch Is Honoree

Miss Lane Raye Welch, bride-elect of Billy Eugene Warrick, was honored with a luncheon and bridal shower June 19 at the Villa Inn in Amarillo.

Miss Welch is a former resident of Canyon and spring graduate of Vega High School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Welch, now of Amarillo.

Her fiancé is a senior student at West Texas State University. Twenty guests and friends attended the luncheon-shower event for which hostesses included Mrs. Merle Pitt of Canyon, and Mrs. Virgil Belcher, Mrs. Charles Roy Keith and Miss Connie Pitt, all of Amarillo.

SPRY Club Meets For Lunch Today

Monthly luncheon for the SPRY Club will be held today, Thursday, at 11:30 a.m. in the fellowship hall of the First United Methodist Church.

Anyone interested in the group may join in the luncheon and games afterward. Marion Higdon will give the devotional.

Panhandle Pilgrimage — Second Battle Of Adobe Walls

Editor's note: The following article is the second part of a two-part series excerpted from the forthcoming book "PANHANDLE PILGRIMAGE, Retold Tales Tracing History in the Texas Panhandle," by Pauline and R. L. Robertson of Amarillo. The book will be published in September, 1974, by Staked Plains Press, Canyon, Texas.

By PAULINE and R. L. ROBERTSON

The Battle

With its blanket of silence, night folded in around the sleeping occupants of Adobe Walls. Not a sound came from the four sod and picket buildings of the tiny settlement as the high moon began its descent toward the western sky.

Then, the stillness of the wilderness night was broken by a terrific cracking sound. It was about two o'clock on that morning of Sunday, June 27, 1874. Oscar Sheppard and Mike Welsh, who were sleeping in the saloon, sprang from their pallets of buffalo robes. They heard Jim Hanrahan shout, "Clear out! The ridgepole is breaking."

Soon everyone was aroused and milling about, trying to bolster the heavy cottonwood ridgepole that held up the sod roof. "Bat" Masterson, youngest in the company, rubbed his sleepy eyes and examined the ridgepole.

"There's nothing wrong with that log," he told Dixon. "If it had popped like a Sharps going off in your ear, there would be some crack to show."

A few others nodded, looking at the ridgepole. But they continued their efforts at installing a forked prop found on the woodpile. They grumbled as they worked, little realizing that they would soon count their rude awakening as providential. (Not until years later did some of them learn what had really happened: Hanrahan, fearful that the warning from the squaw man might be well-founded, had fired his six-shooter to trick them into an early rising.)

In gratitude for the men's work at saving his saloon from collapse, Hanrahan offered them drinks on the house. They accepted. By then the first red streaks of dawn were appearing, early as they do in June on the prairie. There was not much point in going back to bed. Billy Dixon and Jim Hanrahan, in a newly-formed partnership, were planning an early morning departure for the hunt, anyway. So Dixon turned to his wagons to pack his bedding.

Stooping to pick up his new Sharps rifle, Billy Dixon noticed strange movements along the horizon through the early morning mist. He froze statue-still. A clear, high note carried across the little valley. A bugle sounded the beginning of Charge! Those movements were Indians — hundreds of them!

Almost immediately the bugle sound was drowned in a swelling war whoop and pounding horse hooves. With a ferocious yell from hundreds of red warriors' throats, the Plains Indians, gaudily painted and brandishing elaborate shields, lances, bows, and shiny guns, bore down at a dead run on Adobe Walls. Billy Dixon, unable at the moment to appreciate the savage splendor of the scene, ran like a jackrabbit for Hanrahan's saloon.

Dixon pounded at the saloon door, yelling to be let in, while a barrage of Indian bullets and arrows thudded into the door and the ground around him. When the door opened, he jumped inside, with Billy Ogg falling in after him. Ogg, who had been caught saddling a horse in the nearby thicket, had incredibly outrun the Indian horses.

Two others were not so fortunate. The Shadler brothers, sleeping outside in their wagon, had not awakened during the disturbance about the ridgepole in the saloon. Now they opened their eyes, only to find feathered, painted, yelling Indians all around them — and to die instantly. Their big Newfoundland dog snarled and was killed and scalped, along with his masters.

There was no time to organize a defense, as Indians swarmed around the buildings, throwing lances and firing into the windows, and hammering on the doors with their gun butts. Led by Quanah, the redskins rode around and around the buildings, often leaping onto the roofs. Some Indians looted wagons and drove off stock.

All the Adobe Walls inhabitants except the Shadler brothers had managed to get inside one of the four buildings, and almost instinctively began fortifying the shattered windows with bags of flour and grain. Levelling their rifles on these props, they aimed quickly but surely, and fired.

The men at Adobe Walls were the crack shots of the West, firing coolly, just as they shot on the buffalo range, aiming to make a center hit with each big slug. They shifted barricades for better protection. Their accurate fire soon drove off the attackers temporarily, but the Indians charged again and again through the morning hours. In the stores and the saloon some of the hunters stood at their posts just as they had awakened — barefoot, in undershirts and drawers.

Mrs. William Olds, lone woman in the besieged little bastion, was as calm and as helpful as any man there. Although the horrible fate of women captured by Plains Indians was well known, she showed no fear as she made herself useful in Rath & Wright's store. Even when her husband accidentally killed himself with his rifle as he descended from a lookout after the battle was over, she did not panic.

The matter of the bugle calls puzzled the white defenders. It was later learned that a Negro deserter from the army had joined forces with the Indians as their bugler. Now, Rally, Charge and Retreat were blown to move the attackers in their maneuvers. Ex-soldiers in the buildings interpreted the calls and warned their companions, so that each Charge was met with volleys of gunfire from the windows and the Indians were driven back.

As the morning wore on, many Indians fell under the deadly aim of the buffalo hunters. Repeatedly the warriors risked that gunfire to attempt rescues of their dead and wounded. They believed that if a warrior lost his scalp lock, his spirit would not go to the happy hunting grounds.

Chief Quanah Parker himself raced his mount in front of Rath's store, through a rain of bullets, to rescue a wounded Comanche. Leaning from his horse, he lifted the warrior and, displaying almost unbelievable strength, carried him back beyond the range of the buffalo guns.

But Quanah was not immune to the bullets. After his horse was shot from under him, he was wounded by a ricocheting bullet and was taken off by a comrade. Quanah, in later life, admitted that the Indians had had 80 killed and twice as many wounded in the Battle of Adobe Walls.

By midmorning the Indians were no longer making their wild charges, close to the four buildings and assaulting the very doors and windows with their weapons and horses' hooves. But they were still hidden in the long grass around the trading post, sniping at any moving object.

"Ammunition's pretty low," Hanrahan announced in the saloon. "I wish we had some of that ammunition from Rath's. They've got thousands of rounds in there."

Bat Masterson, the 20-year-old famous for his sense of humor, looked out across the bloody, bullet-strewn yard, and beyond to the Indians moving in the grass. He grinned.

"I'd be glad to oblige you, Jim, and get some ammunition from Rath's. But I've sort of got out of the habit of going there, lately. I've had to keep indoors a lot for my health."

However, when Masterson's good friend, Billy Tyler, attempting to save the horses in the stockade, was fatally wounded, Bat ran from the saloon to Myers' store and climbed in through a window to comfort his dying buddy. Others, including Dixon, Hanrahan, and old Billy Keeler, also managed to run between buildings in a rain of bullets without being hit, when dire necessity demanded it.

The Battle of Adobe Walls lasted only one day, as the Indians, disturbed by Quanah's injury and disillusioned by the failure of Isatai's "bullet-proof" paint and of his plan to catch the white men by surprise, began to leave the scene about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Their morale was shattered.

Isatai, incidentally, had watched the whole affair from a rise, beyond the range of the buffalo guns. Sitting (naked under his yellow paint) on his painted pony, the young medicine man was set upon by bitter Cheyennes whose sons had been killed. Only the intervention of some of the chiefs saved him from their wrath. For the rest of his life Isatai was a disgraced man.

The Shot

The defenders of Adobe Walls spent an uneasy four or five days, stranded inside the makeshift fort without horses (the Indians had killed or stolen all the horses). Although they had managed to bury their three dead comrades in a single grave near the corral the first night, they dared not venture out to bury the rotting carcasses of dead Indians and horses just outside the Walls. Well into the second day, however, Billy Dixon reports a desperate situation:

"By this time such an awful stench was rising from the dead Indians and dead horses that we were forced to get rid of them. As we had no teams with which to drag them away, we rigged up several buffalo hides and tied ropes to them, then rolled the bodies onto the hides and pulled them far enough away to prevent the evil smell from reaching the buildings. In this way three or four men could move a horse."

"At one place, between Rath's and Hanrahan's, twelve horses lay piled together. We dug a pit close at hand and rolled them in. The other horses and the Indians were dragged off on the prairie and left."

A few Indians appeared in the distance from time to time and returned the defenders' fire before riding off again. Billy Dixon wrote, "The Indians were somewhere close at hand, watching our every movement." On the third day a small group of warriors was noticed on the butte about a mile east of Adobe Walls, sitting on their horses observing the settlement. Among the hunters watching the Indians was Dixon.

Dixon raised his "Big 50" Sharps rifle, took careful aim, and fired. The boom of the shot died away; then to everyone's delight, the tiny figure of an Indian was seen reeling from his horse, and the other Indians scattered from their exposed positions. A few minutes later, two of them retrieved the body of their comrade, and the Indian scouting party vanished. This remarkable feat of marksmanship — the range was later measured accurately as 1538 yards (¾ mile) — Dixon modestly attributed to luck, ("a scratch shot") as much as to his ability with a rifle. Whichever it was, it helped persuade the hostiles that the immediate vicinity of Adobe Walls spelled bad medicine for them at that time.

Within a week after the battle, more than 100 buffalo hunters had gathered at Adobe Walls (some sources give a total of 200). The defenders had sent out two men after dark on the second day to visit the hunters' camps in the area and warn the occupants that the Indians were on the warpath. At the same time they had sent a rider to Dodge City for help.

When help had not come after a week's wait, Billy Dixon and a party of about 25 men set out to find out why. Dodging Indians all the way and finding one dead hunter "shockingly mutilated" in his camp, they reached Dodge City after three days, according to Dixon.

"Ours was the first crowd to reach Dodge City after the fight at Adobe Walls, and the whole town turned out to see us. Everybody was anxious to learn the particulars, and we were asked thousands of questions. News of what had happened at the Walls had driven most of the buffalo-hunters to Dodge City, their camps stretching up and down the Arkansas near town.

We learned that a relief party, composed of buffalo-hunters and residents of Dodge, had started south under the command of Tom Nixon. There were about 40 men in the party."

Battle Results

Help arrived eventually from Dodge City, but many of the buffalo hunters had lost their taste for pursuing such a hazardous career. Some of them returned to their former homes in the East or the Midwest. Bat Masterson became famous as a sports writer in New York. Even Billy Dixon never hunted again for buffalo hides. Those hunters who continued succeeded in virtually exterminating the buffalo from the Great Plains by the year 1880. In this systematic slaughter, the hunters had the tacit approval of the U.S. Government.

Early in August, 1874, Dixon and Masterson, the two youngest at Adobe Walls, obtained jobs as scouts for troops under General Nelson A. Miles, who was launching one thrust of a 5-pronged offensive against the marauding Plains Indians in the Panhandle. Returning with the Army to Adobe Walls late in the summer, they found that someone had stuck an Indian skull on each post of the corral gate.

The troopers, under Lt. Baldwin, repulsed a sudden attack by 15 Indians on two plumb-hunting civilians, but not before one of the white men had been killed. His burial at Adobe Walls made the fifth one since the trading post had been established in the spring. This skirmish is sometimes called The Third Battle of Adobe Walls.

But the Indians had the last word in regard to Adobe Walls. Some months after the battle, the post was finally abandoned by buffalo hunters, and the Indians set fire to the buildings that fall of 1874. The merchants of Adobe Walls suffered severe financial loss.

Humiliated by their failure to annihilate an enemy outnumbered 25 to 1, the hostile tribes spread across the Plains, pillaging and killing. Altogether they killed about 190 whites, 30 of them in Texas, within two months. Their actions at Adobe Walls and afterwards caused the federal government to abandon its peace policy administered by the Quakers. Instead, military authorities determined to launch a vigorous campaign to subdue and force the Indians to return to their reservations in Indian Territory. The intervention of the Army resulted in the Red River War of 1874 and 1875, and the removal of all surviving Panhandle Indians, even the stubborn Kwahadis under Quanah Parker, to the dreaded reservation.

Adobe Walls. . .

An interesting postscript to Quanah's experience at Adobe Walls happened in 1889 after Quanah and his Comanches, truant from the reservation, had spent the winter months camping on Col. Charles Goodnight's ranch in the Panhandle (and eating the rancher's beef at his invitation). A troop of soldiers guided by Billy Dixon came to escort the Indians back to Fort Sill, and Quanah met his former foe of Adobe Walls. When Dixon disclosed his identity as one of the men who had fought against Quanah 15 years earlier, the Indian was delighted to meet the white hero of the Adobe Walls battle. He leaned across his horse and shook Dixon's hand.

Today at Adobe Walls

Two monuments and one gravestone stand starkly in the flat, open country of the Canadian River valley where the Battle of Adobe Walls took place a century ago. The site is on the Turkey Track Ranch in Hutchinson County, 20 miles northeast of Borger. Almost a mile to the east rises a barren, flat-topped butte on which Billy Dixon's "Shot of the Century" hit a mounted Indian.

On the 50th anniversary of the Battle of Adobe Walls (June 27, 1924), a red granite monument, erected by the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, was unveiled on the site. The inscription on the marker is headed with these words: ADOBE WALLS BATTLE GROUND. Here on June 27, 1874, about 700 picked warriors from the Comanche, Cheyenne, and Kiowa Indian tribes were defeated by 28 brave frontiersmen: (the 2-column list of names is concluded with the name of the one woman present).

Nearby there stands another granite monument erected by the Indians, inscribed with the names of six Comanches and seven Cheyennes killed in the battle, the other dead braves having been removed from the battlefield by their comrades before the battle ended. The Indian inscription, surmounted by the head and shoulders of a warrior in profile and wearing a war bonnet reads: They Died For That Which Make [sic] Life Worth Living/ INDIAN'S LIBERTY, FREEDOM, PEACE/ On The Plains Which They Enjoyed For Generations/ (the Comanches are listed in the left-hand column; the Cheyennes, in the right-hand) / (beneath columns) IN MEMORY OF THE INDIAN WARRIORS/ WHO FELL IN THE 2ND BATTLE OF ADOBE WALLS/ JUNE 27, 1874.

The body of Billy Dixon, who died on his claim in No-Man's Strip in Oklahoma, adjacent to the Texas line, in 1913, was reinterred at the Adobe Walls site in the summer of 1929. The special ceremony was well attended and widely publicized. His wife, Olive K. Dixon, wrote his autobiography, Life of Billy Dixon, from notes he had dictated during his last years. The book was published first in 1914. Billy Dixon's grave marker can be seen today near the two commemorative monuments.

The only visible remnants of the short-lived trading settlement called Adobe Walls (born and died in 1874) are ill-defined foundations of the stores, saloon, blacksmith shop, mess house, etc. Today a road cuts diagonally across the area that was once a bustling trading post in the Plains wilderness.

But the sands of a century have not erased the memory of one undaunted woman and 28 courageous frontiersmen whose sheer guts and perseverance in a desperate situation changed the course of Panhandle history at Adobe Walls.

It is said that the faint echo of hoofbeats from Comanche horses can sometimes be heard on a still June night near East Adobe Walls Creek. The sound reverberates across the vast expanse of the Indians' beloved Buffalo Plains.

Tourist Travel Better Than Usual

High prices and fear of gas shortages have apparently not inhibited tourist travel through the Canyon area this summer.

With a month of the tourist season almost over, local merchants report business from tourists is better this year than last year, a time when the gas shortage was much publicized.

Apparently, much of the tourist interest in the Canyon area centers around the nightly production of "TEXAS," Paul Green's musical-drama which plays in the Palo Duro Canyon Pioneer Amphitheatre.

Mrs. Margaret Harper,

publicity director for the drama, confirmed this week that the show is drawing full-volume crowds night after night. The summer run of "TEXAS" began a week ago and the first three nights played to standing-room-only crowds, she said.

"It's booming all right," she said. "We're doing well and who could ask for more than that?"

Operators of local motels said their business has increased this summer with most of their overnight guests in Canyon to view the show.

A spokesman for Lexington Motor Inn said 85 to 90 per cent of his guests are in town to see

"TEXAS."

He said business is up from last summer.

A spokesman for the Trail Motor Inn said the tourist business this summer "is really booming," with "TEXAS" the big attraction.

Local service station owners said the pass-through tourist business is also good this year as compared to last summer.

But, they said the business is not up drastically over the previous season.

Many tourists apparently shied from extensive travel last summer after gas supplies reached critical shortage levels.

School Survey To Test Public Opinions

"What are the two most important needs that exist today to improve the schools in Canyon?" will be one of the opinion questions asked citizens of Canyon by a research team from the University of Texas at Austin during July 8-11.

The group, composed of 20 graduate students and two instructors, will arrive in Canyon the afternoon of July 8, according to Jerry Jacobs, superintendent of schools for the Canyon Independent School District. They will begin their interviews that day. A member of the team will arrive in Canyon this week to make a house count in the different areas to be covered. He will also field test the survey questions.

The team will interview residents of the Canyon school district through July 11. According to Jacobs, one of the amazing aspects of the survey is that on July 11, the group will give a written report complete with charts and graphs to show answers given and the area from which they came.

The report will be divided by the two elementary school districts and those who have lived in the Canyon school district for five years or less and those who have lived in the district more than five years.

During the time the questions for the survey were compiled, Jacobs, David Corley, principal at Canyon Junior High School, and Bob Parks and Luther Lawless, principals at the two elementary schools in the district, met with the instructors to point out areas where they were interested.

The questionnaire will be finalized prior to the arrival of the research team.

Participants in the survey will be asked how long they have lived in Canyon, why they moved to Canyon and how long they intend to stay in Canyon. They will also be asked how many children they have in the local school program and which school or schools they attended.

Residents in the school district will be asked if they visited a school during the past year and how well they were received.

Sources of information about the school will also be asked. One of the ways the survey will know the knowledge of the one questioned about the working of the local school system will be a question asking the participant to give the name of the superintendent of schools and members of the board of education.

In the area of finances, the one questioned will be asked, "When Canyon school enrollment increases so that additional building is necessary, will you support a bond issue to build additional schools?" Residents will also be questioned concerning their opinion about the amount of money that is being spent to educate children in the Canyon schools.

Residents of the district will be asked if the local school program is preparing the college-bound student for college work and if the local program is preparing the non-college-bound student for vocational skills.

Participants in the survey will be asked their opinion of where blame should be placed if a student fails to do well in school here.

Another opinion question will concern the annexing of a part of the Canyon school district located next to the growing southwest portion of the city of Amarillo.

A question concerning the interest of the individual concerning the community education program in the Canyon Public Schools will also be asked. Dr. Ken Hart, director of the community education program, stated that they hoped to see what courses people want to take. He said that during the past year school age youngsters had taken questionnaires home to their parents. This would be the first time for the question to be asked others in the community.

The questioned will also be given opportunity to express their opinion about important matters that are not listed in the questionnaire.

John Sommer, principal of Canyon High School, stated that he was not interested in any one part of the questionnaire but that the total picture would give more indication to him of the direction to be traveled.

Corley stated that the survey will be a good way to get a true picture of the feelings of the people's satisfaction with the school system. Corley said that the answers given to the question concerning the dress code would be of interest.

Funeral Services Set For Resident

Funeral services will be held today at 10 a.m. at LaGrone Funeral Chapel for Mrs. Ruth B. Stokes, age 78, who died Tuesday morning at 11:15 at Neblett Memorial Hospital. The Rev. Hubert Thomson, associate pastor of the First United Methodist Church will officiate. Burial will be in Dreamland Cemetery.

Mrs. Stokes married B.T. Stokes March 29, 1974, at Midway, Tex. They moved to Canyon from Talpa in September of 1954. She lived at 1809 Sixth Ave. at the time of her death.

A member of the Methodist Church, Mrs. Stokes is survived by her husband, B.T. of the home, two sons, Harold Dennis Stokes of Pensacola, Fla. and Robert Wayne Stokes of Albuquerque, N.M., and one daughter, Mrs. Maurine Dodd of Tacoma, Wash. Six grandchildren also survive.

School Board Hesitant To Take Free School Site

Canyon school board members remained hesitant Tuesday night to accept a 10-acre elementary school site offered free of charge by a San Antonio firm.

The board's hesitancy centered on the wording of a letter from the firm President, R. F. Schoolfield, who asked that the school build a fence around the property and that construction begin on a new school within the next five years.

Supt. Jerry Jacobs told board members the five-year limit was probably not long enough in view of the student population in the area. The site is located south of Texas 1151 and east of Washington Street.

Board members agreed that a committee consisting of Ed Wieck, Harold Erwin and Jacobs should meet with representatives of the firm to negotiate a workable contract.

They noted that an elementary school in the Washington Street area could serve a broad area, an area which Jacobs said now has probably more than 100 elementary-aged students.

In other business, board members were given a report on the operation of the schools' cafeterias for last year. The report indicates the district made a $4000 net profit on the operation of the cafeterias.

Business Manager Ronnie Woods noted that the federally subsidized school lunch program actually lost money last year but that the snack bar operations made up the deficit.

Board members renewed a contract with Robert Smith of Amarillo for the collection of delinquent taxes. The contract calls for Smith to receive as his fee 15 per cent of the total delinquent taxes collected.

Maintenance priorities for the various campuses were also reviewed by board members.

The board will meet July 12 to hear a report from a University of Texas opinion poll team which will conduct a poll in Canyon for the district beginning July 8.

'TEXAS' Cast Entertains At Museum

Cast members from the musical drama "TEXAS" will entertain visitors of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum on Sunday as part of the museum's summer series.

The museum is located on the south end of the West Texas State University campus. Show times are at 2:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. on the lawn between the museum and the Museum Annex.

On Sunday, July 7, museum-goers will ride the trails with the classic Western star William S. Hart in the 1917 silent film "The Return of Draw Egan." Show times are at 2:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. in the museum annex basement.

Hart catapulted to fame during the golden era of the silent film industry, 1912-20, with other such remembered names as actor Douglas Fairbanks and directors Mack Sennett and Thomas Ince. Hart, unmarried, died in 1924 of a heart attack.

Over 200 people came to the museum June 23 to watch the feats of another silent cowboy star, Tom Mix, in the 1917 film "In the Days of the Thundering

Kenneth Olsen To Attend Meet In Los Angeles

Kenneth Olsen, assistant professor of business at West Texas State University, is one of approximately 40 people from the American academic community selected to attend the Conference on the Changing Business-Society Relationships in Los Angeles July 28 through Aug. 8.

The conference is sponsored by the University of California, Los Angeles under a gift from the General Electric Foundation.

Olsen has been named chairman of the Committee on Agriculture and Its Role in Society. Representatives from businesses will speak to each of the conference's committee. Olsen will lead his group's discussion and questioning after the lecture.

The ten-day seminar is for professors who teach or plan to teach a course on business and society or a closely related subject. Faculty participants will represent a spectrum of philosophy, approaches to teaching the subject, universities throughout the United States, and degrees of experience in teaching and doing research in the field.

The conference's objectives are to explore the pressures for and changes taking place in redefining the business role in modern society, and to examine approaches to teaching business and society at the university level.

Elementary Students Define Watergate

"What is Watergate?" the Canyon News asked members of the first, second and third grades at Rex Reeves elementary School.

First grader Monte Slaton said that Watergate is "something like the government" and a "place where men work hard." Most first grade students interviewed did not know what Watergate is. Many would not even guess at its meaning.

Second graders Bryan O'Donnell and Eric McGregor held a very lively discussion concerning Watergate when asked "What is Watergate?" Bryan said that "Watergate is a problem with the President — some people want some Watergate tapes and junk." According to Bryan, who said that he had watched it on television, "they want to impeach the President."

Eric said that "these guys stole some tapes and said that Nixon told them to do so." Eric said that he (Nixon) did not do it. Eric said that the President was trying "to get these guys to tell the truth." Eric said that those against Nixon said that he should resign. "He really did not do anything wrong," Eric said. Eric believes "President Nixon would not do anything like that."

Bryan seemed to believe that Nixon would.

John Albers, also a second grade student, said that those involved in Watergate were trying to find out what to do with one of the people in the government. He said that they wanted to tell this member of the government whether or not to be in the government any more.

Cindy Eller and Misty Vars, members of Mrs. Sherod's second grade class, agreed that Watergate was against Nixon. They believe that those against Nixon think he is not good enough for the energy crisis "and stuff."

Third graders interviewed seemed to be disinterested in Watergate.

Tonya Baiseen said they are trying to involve the President in something that he did not do. They think he has some tapes.

Howard Schram said Watergate is about some people who stole tapes.

Kim Forehand said that "they were listening in on President Nixon's conversations."

Lisa Brashears said "where people get together and talk about all the things about stolen tapes."

Jamie Davis thinks that "Nixon put some bugs in some meetings."

Happy's Little Misses To Be Judged Tonight

By MARY NEAL HENRY

MISS HAPPY, JUNIOR Miss, and Little Miss Happy Contest sponsored by the Happy Jaycee-Ettes will be held this evening, June 27, in the Vivian Wesley Auditorium of Happy Schools. Sara Tirey and Jeanne Johnson are co-chairmen of this project.

Miss Happy contestants must be of high school age this fall and students in the Happy school system. Junior Miss must be classified between fifth and eighth grades this fall. Little Miss Happy must be in grades one through four.

BEVERLY DOWD WAS appointed Grand Representative from New Hampshire to Texas by the Grand Assembly of Texas, Order of the Rainbow for Girls at the recent Grand Assembly Session in San Antonio. Fourteen girls and six adults attended this session. They traveled by charter bus with the Canyon Rainbow Assembly.

Connie Hand served Happy

Assembly as their Grand Choir member. Kim McCaslin and Diane Johnson served as Happy's Grand Guards and Louese White served as the adult Grand Guard.

Faye Parker, Jo Hand, Evelyn Dowd, Ruth Mann, Louese White and Willa Jane Elliott were the sponsors of the Happy Assembly. Rainbow girls in attendance were Cathy, Brenda and Debbie Parker, Connie Hand, Diane Johnson, Bonnie Briscoe, Beverly Dowd, Lissa Foster, Kim McCaslin, Janet Foster, Marcus Vermiere, Christy McCaslin, Nancy Woods and Lisa Johnson. The group toured the San Antonio Zoo, the Sunken Gardens, the museums, the Alamo and other points of interest while there.

SKIP SIMONS HOSTED a "Come As You Are Breakfast" on Sunday morning, June 23rd. Coffee, hot tea, bubble bread, apple cake and melon and cantaloupe were served to Judy Shipman, Mary Neal Henry, Joy Freeman, Sara Tirey, LaVenna Jackson, Jeanne Johnson, Kay Venhaus, Donna Bryan, Betty Stockett, Dotty Foster, Susan Rahlfs, and hostess, Skip Simons.

Skip was attired in a long skirt and turtle neck blouse. Jeanne was attired in slacks and matching blouse. Everyone else was attired in sleeping apparel or house coats with half the buttons missing (been a bad year, you know). Dotty Foster won the prize for looking the _____? Maybe "most surprising" would be a good description. I don't know if she won because of the way she looked or because of the story she told.

Dotty couldn't rouse the Stockett family by knocking... or calling... so she went on in the living room and called them on the bedroom telephone. Dotty stated her business and they asked where she was. IN THE LIVING ROOM? Anyway, Dotty won the prize.

HAPPY JAYCEE-ETTES HAVE so much business "going on" that they finalized these plans: a nomination for Outstanding Senior Citizen; workers for the concession stand at the ball park; and the Miss Happy Contests.

KYLE TODD WAS elected Commissioner of Agriculture at the recent Boys' State Convention. He occupied the seat of John C. White for a day, even wrote a letter which was mailed to congress, and had his picture made in the state office.

Debbie McCarley won the office of County Treasurer. Debbie's story will also be one profitable to hear.

FLORENCE AND FORREST Bowe and their family flew to Plainview for Father's Day week end with the Brocks. Of course, they also visited Lola Bowe. Because they had flown in their own private plane, they left before noon on Father's Day to return to California.

JANIE McMANIGAL HART of Okeene, Okla. was in the Sunday service with her parents, Kate and Morlan McManigal.

MILDRED AND CLAYTON Devin have five of their grandchildren, Clelia, Devin, Holly Ann, Patrice and the 18-month-old baby girl, visiting with them from Ely, Nev.

THE RED BEES of Happy lost to Canyon's #2 team by a score of 5 to 10. June 18th they dropped a game to Happy's Knockouts by a score of 11 to 12.

On June 20th the Red Bees made a comeback and beat the Knockouts 22 to 21. The lead changed hands several times and the game proved exciting. Vanessa Malone hit a grand slam homerun. Carrie Venhaus followed suit. Molly Parker, a rookie, hit a triple with the bases loaded and brought in the winning run for the Bees. Connie Hand and Sharon McCarley coach this team. Evelyn and Vanessa Malone, Connie and Carrie Venhaus, Molly Parker, Holly Parker, Teresa Luker, Melissa Null, Angela Parker, Shann McCarley and Teri Patching.

Toles Memorial Park was the scene of a victory for Red Bees over Canyon's Purple #1 team, 22 to 16. Canyon led 10 to 5 at the end of the first inning, then 11 to 5 and 12 to 6. Happy scored 11 runs in the fourth inning and gave the Purple #1 team only one. The Red Bees scored five more runs during the last inning and defeated Canyon 22 to 16. All of Happy's Red Bees scored during this game.

The final game of the season for the Red Bees was June 22 with Canyon #2 Green team. They dropped that one 19 to 8. Only four innings were played due to the shortage of time to play a full game. Red Bees scoring during this game were Teri Patching, Shann McCarley, Angela Parker, Melissa Null and Teresa Luker.

TUFFY THOMPSON AND Walter Arnold won the Four State Benefit in Lenapau, Okla.

On Saturday evening for Texas. This was a benefit roping and barbecue to benefit Ben Patterson, an RCA roper who was paralyzed in a freak accident. Tuffy and Walter won the roping for Texas. Shoat Webster and Randy Burchett roped for Oklahoma; Sonny Davis and Olin Young roped for New Mexico and Sonny Worrell and John Barnes roped for Kansas.

Sonny Davis won the steer roping the next afternoon at Lenapau. Olin Young took second in the average; Eldon Dudley, third; and Pecos McIntyre, fourth. Each roper roped two steers with the top fifteen roping a third and final steer.

Olin Young won the steer roping the previous week in Pawhuska.

HOMER KINSEY IS improving in therapy at St. Anthony's. That zip is 79107 if you want to drop Homer a card.

STEVE COLE IS improving also at St. Anthony's after suffering a heart attack.

MR. AND MRS. S.E. Vaughan's address is Tulia Care Center, 714 S. Austin Avenue, Tulia, Texas 79088. They would enjoy cards and remembrances.

DORIS GILHAM IS finally home after surgery. Doris' recovery has been difficult.

DORIS FOSTER IS home and walking after hip surgery.

MRS. VIRGIL TOLES' address is Box 1999, Hereford, Texas 79045. Wonder if she finished all those afghans.

JANE AND LARRY Carver of Hereford have a baby girl, Laura Jane, born June 24. Laura Jane weighed 5 pounds 6 ounces. She has brothers, Darrin, eight years old, and Michael, five years old. Her maternal grandparents are Loraine and Keene McDonald and great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. O.K. McDonald and Mary Jane Miller.

EDDIE JOE PEARSON won 10th in showmanship at the District 4-H Horse Show in Tulia and Sherri Starkey won seventh showing her horse at halter.

ENJOY CANYON DAYS this week end. I'd love to be with you, but I previously committed myself to attend a barbecue and speak to a group of CowBelles in Haskell. You all have fun!

See ya!
